Partnership allows point-of-care workers to improve workflow and patient care

SARASOTA, Fla. February 25, 2010 – Connexall®, the pioneering developer of integrated communications software, today announced its strategic partnership with Voalté, a leading developer of innovative point-of-care communications software on the iPhone and other smartphone platforms.

The partnership will extend both companies' capacity to integrate multiple communication devices and clinical equipment while improving workflow and patient care in hospitals around the world. By leveraging Connexall's diverse range of integration solutions and Voalté's seamless integration of voice, alarms and text on mobile devices, healthcare organizations gain a more impressive range of communication solutions than ever before.

"The partnership between Connexall and Voalté provides an excellent opportunity to leverage the Connexall platform on the latest generation of smartphone devices," said Trey Lauderdale, vice president of innovation at Voalté. "We look forward to bringing new, innovative solutions to our mutual customers."

Timely communication is essential when the wellbeing of patients is on the line. With Connexall, healthcare organizations from large hospitals to smaller nursing and extended care facilities can increase the quality of patient care, patient safety and healthcare provider effectiveness while decreasing overall cost-of-care.

Both Connexall and Voalté combine world-class communications integration platforms with deep expertise in understanding how healthcare organizations process information and provide optimum care. These integration tools make sure the right people get to the right place at the right time.

"We're pleased to offer customers the enhanced capabilities of Connexall with the benefits of the Voalté One system," said David Tavares, CEO of Connexall. "This ensures healthcare workers have access to improved tools that make an immediate impact in their lives."

About Connexall®

If people don't have information, they can't act. Connexall leads the world in enabling information immediacy for healthcare, retail and hospitality organizations, as well as campus environments. Since 1992, our core strength has been the ability to integrate event-driven systems with communications networks to create environments in which information is immediately available to those who need to act. But we know that technology alone isn't enough. We take a whole-solution approach that augments technological innovation with our deep experience in understanding and optimizing our customers' business processes and information flows. Today, our customers include some of the world's most renowned and progressive businesses and institutions. They all recognize the power of information immediacy to revolutionize how they work. And they have all chosen to work with us because they value our customer-driven listening culture, focus on customer success, responsiveness, and high standards of performance and quality.
